

Bordeaux Neurocampus PhD seminar series 2020-2021

Friday 9 October / 11:30 - Johannes Kohl

Deconstructing instinctive behaviours

Friday 6 November / 11:30 - Aline Desmedt

The hippocampus at the core of PTSD-like memory

Friday 4 December / 11:30 - Jakob Balslev Sørensen

Using neuroendocrine cells to study the role of synaptotagmin-7 in vesicle priming and fusion

Friday 8 January / 11:30 - Christelle Baunez

Subthalamic nucleus involvement in motivational and emotional processes positions it as a critical actor to modulate social behavior

Friday 5 February / 11:30 - Pierre Vanderhaegen

Deciphering species-specific mechanisms of human cortical development

Friday 5 March / 11:30 - Naoya Takahashi

Cortical dendrite and touch

Friday 2 April / 11:30 - Véronique Coizet

What is the link between the subthalamic nucleus and pain ? Involvement in Parkinson's disease

Friday 7 May / 11:30 - Gilles Fortin

Central control of breathing, dissection of functional modules

Friday 4 June / 11:30 - Barry Everitt

Desperately seeking drugs: associate and non-associative mechanisms

Due to Covid-19 situation, seminars until Spring will be online.
Zoom link will be sent by email.

More details:

www.bordeaux-neurocampus.fr

Bordeaux
Neurocampus
Graduate Program

université
de BORDEAUX

